Lesson Vocabulary	Materials
human rights, endowed, conscience, fundamental, inalienable, charter, reaffirms, dignity, upholding, promoting, protecting, articulated Note: This lesson includes an assessment. During the Opening, it is fine and even desirable to review vocabulary words with students. During the quiz, students must do their independent best work.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Vocabulary flash cards (from Lesson 3; student-created on index cards)</li> <li>• Document camera or interactive white board</li> <li>• Introduction to the UDHR note-catcher (from Lesson 4; student copies and one for display)</li> <li>• Mid-Unit 1 Assessment: What Are Human Rights? Vocabulary Quiz and Explanation (one per student)</li> <li>• Mid-Unit 1 Assessment: What Are Human Rights? Vocabulary Quiz and Explanation (Answer Key for Teacher Reference)</li> </ul>

Opening	Meeting Students' Needs
A. Engaging the Reader: Review of Introduction to the UDHR Note-catcher (10 minutes) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Read the learning targets aloud, underlining the phrase “use strategies.” Ask students to talk with each other about the strategies they have been learning to figure out the meanings of new words (use context, break words into parts, draw pictures, flash cards). Ask them to talk about which strategies work the best for them.</li> <li>• Ask students to take out their Introduction to the UDHR note-catchers that they completed for homework.</li> <li>• Strategically place students into pairs, with more-ready readers paired with less-ready readers. (You may also want to pull together a small group of students who you know would benefit from your specific support.)</li> <li>• Ask students to share the work they did on their Introduction to the UDHR note-catcher, comparing the main ideas and important words they found. They can change or add to their note-catchers as they wish based on these discussions. If pairs finish, they should review their flash cards.</li> <li>• After students have worked together for 5 minutes, post a copy of the Introduction to the UDHR note-catcher on an interactive white board or document camera. Ask students to share what they wrote on their papers and capture their thinking on your copy.</li> <li>• Clarify students’ understanding as needed. Ask:             <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>* “What strategies did you use to identify important words? To figure out the meaning of important words?”</li> </ul> </li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Consider providing nonlinguistic symbols (e.g., a word list for vocabulary, an arrow from one dot to another for connect) to assist ELLs in making connections with vocabulary.</li> <li>• ELL language acquisition is facilitated by interacting with native speakers of English who provide models of language.</li> </ul>

Work Time	Meeting Students' Needs
A. Visualizing Word Meanings: Group Tableaus (20 minutes) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Post the words “human rights” on your interactive white board or document camera. Say:           <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>* “We have talked for the last several days about this phrase. What are human rights?”</li> </ul> </li> <li>Allow students to respond. Clarify as needed: “Human rights are the things that the authors of the UDHR believe should be true for all people.”</li> <li>Ask students to name some rights they or the authors of the UDHR think all people should have. They will likely say some things from Article 1, such as: “to be free” and “to be equal.” They may say other things as well: “to have enough to eat,” “to have fun,” etc. Write their ideas on your display.</li> <li>Circle the word “equal” and ask students to visualize what a small group of people could do to show what “equal” looks like. They may say things like: “people standing all in a line; no one is in front.”</li> <li>Say: “We have just thought of a picture that you can make using people. This is sometimes called a tableau. I am going to ask you to work in groups of two or three to think about a picture of people, or tableau, that would represent one of the vocabulary words on our flash cards. Remember that tableaus are like a picture—no talking or acting out. Everyone is frozen in a scene.”</li> <li>Ask a few students to repeat the directions and clarify any misunderstandings. You might need to show them an example; for instance, you and a couple of students may stand in a circle facing each other, bow slightly, and freeze to show “dignity.”</li> <li>Place students in the groups you’ve predetermined and assign each group a vocabulary word. Allow about 5 minutes for the groups to create their tableaus.</li> <li>Have each group present their tableau to the whole class, allowing the audience to attempt to guess which word each tableau represents. Have students who share guesses refer to their flash cards and give their reasoning.</li> <li>As a class, discuss how visualizing and acting out difficult words can help them remember what the texts are about. Tell them they can visualize the vocabulary words in their minds as they take their assessment.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Consider allowing struggling students to draw their observations, ideas, or notes when appropriate.</li> <li>For ELLs, consider providing extended time for tasks and answering questions in class discussions. They receive extended time as an accommodation on NY State assessments.</li> <li>Students who struggle with language production can still demonstrate their understanding of a concept through their tableau.</li> <li>You might prepare several “backup” sketches to show students possible tableaus for the vocabulary words. Have these available in case they get stuck.</li> </ul>
B. Mid-Unit 1 Assessment: Human Rights Vocabulary and Common Prefixes (20 minutes) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Say “Today you will meet the learning targets by showing what you know on a vocabulary quiz.”</li> <li>Distribute the Mid-Unit 1 Assessment: Human Rights Vocabulary and Common Prefixes to each student. Circulate as they work, noting who is having difficulty and may need redirecting.</li> <li>Students who finish early may continue annotating the introduction to the UDHR, make new flash cards, or add to their definition of human rights in their journals.</li> </ul>

Closing and Assessment	Meeting Students' Needs
A. Debrief (10 minutes) <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Bring the students together as a whole class and, using the Fist to Five protocol, have them rate themselves on their success with the vocabulary quiz. Strategically call on students to share why they chose to rate themselves with that number. Note any who rated themselves 0–3 and make a note to check with them later about the quiz.</li><li>• Give students think time for this prompt (which can be posted on the board):<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>* “I used to think human rights were _____. Now I know human rights are _____.”</li></ul></li><li>• Then do a quick go-round of students, having each complete this sentence frame aloud.</li></ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• For students who need additional supports producing language, consider offering a sentence frame, sentence starter, or cloze sentence to provide the structure required.</li></ul>
